How to use: 1. Close the program before using the next time. 2. Run the program by double click it. 3. In the first window, click the question mark. 4. Select your connection and make it start by clicking "Set" button or the checkbox. It's is an essential component of the Windows that you can't do without. It is referred to as essential in Windows Vista because it may be the difference between you being able to use your system in the way you want and be forced to work in a different way than you would have liked. You will find that you will have to make changes to your Internet connection and this may not be something you will like to do, it is of no use doing it without it. So even though Internet Explorer is available by default in Windows you will still be forced to install additional components to use the Internet. Zet Switch, like Internet Explorer is free but if you want to actually make any real use of it you need to install the Zet Switch component. You will find that installing Zet Switch will enable you to switch your Internet connection on and off by double clicking it like you would do with other Internet components. You will find that Zet Switch is a very useful and important component of Windows but it can be a real pain in the butt to install if you don't know what you are doing. Zet Switch how it works If you want to use this component you need to use the Zet Switch component. There may be other applications that will do the same thing but that doesn't mean that you will be able to use the Internet to its full advantage. You need to be in control of what you are doing and that means that you need to have the control of your connections and that means having the Zet Switch component in place. You will find that you cannot switch the connection with the program itself. If you try that then you will be met with an error window informing you that you have to first add the Internet connection. You don't have to do that, you need to know what you are doing but if you don't know what you are doing then the control panel, or the Zet Switch component is the right way to go. You won't have any problems at all if you follow the instructions with the Zet Switch component. You can also switch the connection by double clicking the program icon that you have installed. This works as well to switch your Internet connection as well. The only
