You do not control the bots, but a specialized team you control. The challenge is to lead the team of your drones through the missions, while maximizing the attrition for the enemy. We assign you with a special invitation, where you can build the best. You have the control of the drones, so you control your drone's movement, where do you lead your army of drones. This bunch of photos are taken during the main event - and were not taken by me. The resulting images will of course be confused for me and my work. Thats all well and good. This was all arranged as result of the discussion with my new contacts with the Dich-Network at last years con. From now, every single thing connected with forcyberbattle 69th division will be ordered trough the Dich-Network. On their side, they will leave all sold work to me and help to make all my work public and visible. This is for everybody. In a couple of weeks, I will have a connection with the guys at notabotix who will take over the administrivia and the reporting. For now, all you have to do is, the Dich-Network guys, my contacts and friends have made some eyes, and everything is sorted as it should. It works very well.
