

Improved Player Intelligence FIFA's player intelligence AI continues to be improved using player data from a global survey. Players' skills are modified to be more aware of where they are on the pitch and which teammates they should be communicating with. There is even an option to play with AI controlled opponents that you have played against on previous FIFA games. Improved Player Movement Real-life movements and emotions are brought to life through EA SPORTS Football Club using Player Intelligence data. Individual player data, movement and how players communicate with their teammates are used to come up with a character-driven AI that shows realistic movement on the pitch. Improved Ball Physics Combined with Player Intelligence data, FIFA's new ball physics model is designed to reflect the unpredictable movements of players. This results in a complete change of approach when managing the ball. New Real-Time Referee AI As with previous FIFA games, the new FIFA 22 real-time referee AI uses data from the OnField Decision System (OFDS) to capture all refereeing decisions and challenges. The AI can also make the correct refereeing decisions for tricky situations, such as first-time headers, using data collected from real-time FIFA Referee Conferences. FIFA 22 features an all-new Career Mode, where players can develop their career from youth football through to the Premier League. Players can also play through to the end of this season, compete in the FIFA World Cup and take part in the UEFA Champions League. All game modes support season and cup playoff play. Intelligent Attacking Play In the fully career game mode, you can use the same tactics as your real team and you can make tactical changes in-game, depending on how your season develops. As you play, your ability is assessed and training sessions are automatically scheduled to improve you and your teammates. Players can even adjust their fitness levels through the season to remain ahead of their rivals. New International Teams Available in Career Mode and the online multiplayer game, players can join one of four new international teams: Italy, Netherlands, Spain, and Uruguay. These teams all share the same core data sets and are powered by the same global player profile. Therefore, you can play as or against international teams from other countries in FIFA 22. Seasonal Features Season modes bring you FIFA Football's most in-depth presentation of the real-world game experience.
