"Virtual Machine".? Did I mention that I can also offer the download as a streaming video/audio?. Because of the situation you can use it as a secondary target to play to if needed, or an "aircraft hangar" for storage and transport if needed. I believe the "No Stitching" option allows you to generate the tracer on any map you want (mainly because you don't stitch between maps). I would have to look into my own project again to see if I should use this option or not. Really appreciate your work and knowledge I think now I have a better understand of "Non-Stitch" mode as a "Create&Route" support tool. Using "Non-Stitch" will allow you to develop a custom route of your choice (on any map) and then it will let you convert (cut and stitch) the map to be exactly as you want it to be (per configuration) while it is being "Route" (in play). You can use this to "simulate" "Auto Path" systems using "Non-Stitch". It is just brilliant. I did this to "automate" my current level of "custom route" and can now simply interchange between these two modes in some sort of "Auto Path" or "Auto-Selection" manner. So I will be working on an "Auto Path" (Zone system) using "Non-Stitch" mode. Will then "Just" have to select the Zone you want to travel through and route from Zone to Zone etc... Yes, it looks as if it was no stitched, but I have no clue why. HTH. cheerfullj
