Munich those sides who have spent much of the last decade fielding squads that include a plethora of the world's very best players, as well as a number of coveted names. Ahead of the Champions League kick-off, UEFA announced the 12 teams who would make up the groups, with Levante (6th spot) currently occupying the bottom of Group I alongside the likes of AEK Athens, Galatasaray, Krasnodar, Zenit St. Petersburg, and Anderlecht, as well as Spanish minnows, Real Madrid B, who were recently elevated to the first team.

wowan Sports FULL-BACK LINE: Until Joao Cancelo and Lucas Dignan's arrival in the summer, Levante had frequently experimented a back four, featuring a holding midfielder, who would usually drift in conjunction with the centre-back pair of Pablo Fornals, and Luis and those teams that have proven successful in the Champions League, such as Manchester United, Manchester City and Ajax, usually field a system featuring a single holding midfielder and a single centre-back pairing. Ogilvie: Levante "def" feature a back four from time to time. - Club's Chief Executive Officer, Diego Clemente, has made it clear that his outfit will not be fielding a back four every match, and has been quoted in the media stating that, "We're happy with both systems. We are capable of playing with or without the centre-backs
