Dose-response effect of a dietary supplement containing L-glutamine and antioxidants on plasma endotoxin, interleukin-6, and tumor necrosis factor-alpha responses in healthy subjects. The authors examined the dose-response effect of glutamine (Glu) with two antioxidants (vitamins A and E) on the plasma endotoxin, interleukin-6 (IL-6), and tumor necrosis factor-alpha (TNF-alpha) responses after ingestion of a high-protein, low-fat meal. A group of 8 healthy men ingested on different days, in random order, placebo, placebo with 6 g of Glu, placebo with 6 g of Glu, or placebo with Glu and antioxidant (approximately 1200 IU of vitamin E and 50 mg of ascorbic acid). Blood was drawn at baseline and at 1, 3, 6, and 12 h after the meal. Glu alone tended to lower plasma endotoxin concentrations and total plasma antioxidant capacity (TRAP) (p

Yahoo Launching A New Search API and Site For Advanced, Progressive Search - mcobrien ===== wladimir What's the alternative? Google and Bing? The APIs are already public. Any reason why Yahoo wanted to do this? I mean without locking out existing customers? Are they planning a similar move as MS and switch from proprietary to open standards? ~~~ M2Y

What's new:

The Tomb Level: 1 Artificial Intelligence: 9* [Climb Mount] Sprint. On climbing [Medium] Mount. Movement +10 Rerun” Yep. I will run my Rippers every night. I agree with your spell system with a one quibble. Many of your spells can be cast with little or no cost if the attacker rolls a 6 or less. I would definitely try to at least stick those cost on the damage roll and if it fails, not cost anything. One thing I liked about the Call For Justice was that you had to RAISE the CR of the target monster. I would certainly cut that spell (or the part not paying for raises) to help out with preparing a long list of hellions for the next session. The only thing with the Third Edition is that the Hit Dice are greatly different than previous versions, so you actually have several rolls to get that number. I would say that in order to get that one off by the rules, your humanoid monster would have to be of d8 Hit Dies (give or take) to make it all fit. I hate having to change stat blocks for the sake of rules and would find that pretty lame for a game like this if it was part of the core rules. I also like the way that Moon of the Kill is worded in-game. In 5E the system of actions not being able to be repeated is a nice touch as you don't want to have to replay several actions. And can quickly get quite tedious. Going with your proposed changes on the Greater Spells, I would propose keeping the older wording. One thing I wanted to address is the 3E book uses standard monster HD, and that there are more standard HD for the same PC race. Might as well see what the difference is. For 3rd Edition Monsters Normal HD = 12 + Constitution mod Heroic HD = 24 + Constitution mod Theory of Campaign in TSoC:P I use the following theory of campaign in my Living Fiction campaigns. I find it to be very good for my weekly LFCs and for one-shot new Character creation. 1) Do the GM and Players know who the Player Characters are (or at least what they look like) in the beginning? This means they know the Player Character's names, how they look, what
