The healing of pulpotomy of the primary tooth followed by prenatal avulsion may be expected to be replaced by spontaneous healing. However, resorption of root ends may result in internal root fracture and pulpal necrosis. The aim of this case report was to demonstrate that mineral trioxide aggregate (MTA) could be used successfully in the treatment of this condition. At 4 months of age, an avulsed, resorbing second primary incisor spontaneously regained pulpal vitality and completely healed after MTA pulpotomy. Beckworth Beckworth is a surname.
