Committee on National Education sent the legal services of the justice ministry to Bordeaux to investigate whether the teacher's dossier had been properly handled by the Ministry of Education, Higher Education and Research and whether there was therefore a need for criminal proceedings. On 7 February 2017, the French parliament's Commission on Information, Accounts and Transparency

(CAT), of which MM is a member, began investigating the teacher's allegations. The CAT has set a timeline of 14 March 2017 for its final report on the events. On 14 February 2017, MM was removed from his position as president of the National Council for Institutional Assessment, in order to avoid any conflict of interest.
