Review.pdf.Q: How can I copy a randomly selected row from one R dataframe to another? I have two dataframes, df1, and df2, where I want to check a randomly selected row from df1 against the same row in df2. The below code generates an error message when I try to apply the second line of code: sample The Intercept has uncovered more details about a former “National Security Agency employee” who worked with Anthony Weiner to carry out his hacking operations and was also responsible for helping his wife (ex-Democratic Rep. Huma Abedin) with hers: The man, described as “close with three former top intelligence officials,” worked for his home state’s intelligence agency until 2010. Then, according to the former official, the government’s “most clandestine” operation, called “Stealthnet,” was set up in his Syracuse, New York, neighborhood. A retired FBI official described it as “one of the most sophisticated covert-operations efforts against a U.S. citizen in history.” It was set up in September 2011, a month after Weiner joined Congress. Asked why he joined the shadowy program, the NSA employee said: “Our team
