Fujian Province Development Department (FDZF) is responsible for the implementation and preparation of the urban development program in order to ensure high quality of the city, improved living environment, the development of the economy and the citizens' happiness and well-being. In 2020, FDZF expects 2,1 billion yuan in revenue and 635 million yuan in income. "In order to implement the development strategy and raise the comfort of urban residents, FDZF will enhance the services of urban-planned management in Chongqing in 2020," said FDZF, in the annual work report of the Fourth Urban development plan. In 2020, Chongqing will add 30 new urban-planned management offices in new districts. Besides, urban-planned management staff were increased by 20% this year, an increase of about 5,800 urban-planned management staff. In 2020, Chongqing will invest 15.6 billion yuan in expanding the management staff of urban-planned management, an increase of about 1.3 billion yuan compared with last year. In 2020, FDZF plans to create 500,000 new urban-planned areas and 1 million new urban-planned residents. In order to achieve the goal, a total of 440 large-scale (including business districts and new districts) development funds, 30 medium-scale development funds, 110 small-scale development funds, 90 large-scale urban district improvement funds and 6,150 medium-scale urban district improvement funds have been put forward. Through urban-planned management, Chongqing will construct different types of roads and roads, including four-lane highways. Through urban-planned management, the number of road tunnels and cable car stations will increase by 50%. FDZF will construct the Chongqing-Yongchuan International Road Bridge and the Chongqing-Bomai Hydropower Bridge in 2020. FDZF will focus on the construction of three key infrastructure construction projects: the construction of the Chongqing-Yongchuan International Road Bridge, the Chongqing-Bomai Hydropower Bridge and the Chongqing Inner Ring Road. The Chongqing-Yongchuan International Road Bridge and the Chongqing-Bomai Hydropower Bridge are transport-functional districts that will be built near the Yangtze River. Through urban-planned management, Chongqing will construct the Chongqing-Bomai c6a93da74d
