Must have been one of the mods. ^ This always happens. Usually when I go to bed. @mike1973 ^ Is it too late to find a different potato? Because I really don't want to The whole sad thing is, you're probably more likely to get a set of testicles in a box from the hall of fame than you would be a brain from somebody who thought they could make good trades. Just because they do it doesn't mean the players don't make a bunch of money. Thats why they got put in there. The simpson rule. And your catch phrase, "lucky bastard", is really showing your age too, man. I mean, in this day in age, especially in the case of hockey trades, it takes real scouts and real instincts. With the salary cap and the salary limitations, a GM has to trade a guy, and a lot of times there are very few good options out there, let alone a good deal. And to throw in a kid who hasn't even played a game yet into the whole mess? You could probably trade him for ten million by now. It's literally like the 15th guy on the ice most nights in the NHL. That is what happens when you just stop reading and start snorting. At least when people were just saying, "man, what a crappy trade", you could finish reading it and notice that the trade was actually pretty good. I'm also not bitter about the trade and if I didn't like the player, I'd be in no hurry to trade him. I'm just showing you that sometimes, even with a dumpster full of garbage, there's still good stuff in the trash if you look hard enough. You're old and bitter. I'm also not bitter about the trade and if I didn't like the player, I'd be in no hurry to trade him.
